

A desk. A library. A memex.

The memex™ will condense your personal library and documents to fit into a single piece of furniture. No more bookshelves or filing cabinets to clutter your living room or office. No more last-minute drives to the library when Tommy leaves his research paper for the last minute or wondering where that doctor's bill got filled because the memex can store all of that! Through the use of microfilm and projection, the memex can store hundreds of thousands of books, maps, documents, and pages. Not only can you read on the memex patented display panels as though it were a piece of paper, you can take notes on them too! The memex scanning ability allows you to save these notes on brand new microfilm reels that are unique to your personal memex machine. Want to share your notes? Simply eject the film real and share it with a friend! They can insert the film into their very own memex with no problem. The memex makes searching for texts simple. It keeps track of recently viewed texts and gives suggestions with its associative indexing technology. Worried about it clashing with your furniture? The memex is available in 3 different colors, Beech, Oak, or Ebony. This stylish, space-age machine will change how you read, research, and file documents.
